TORTURE TOLD BY GIRL

Father Held in $10,000 After She Tells of Beatings Threats to Kill

A story of almost daily torture which she said was administered to her by her father, and which ended each time only when she began to pass into unconsciousness, was told in detail in Lynn Court today by Jennie Benevento, fifteen years old, of No. 63 Woodman street, Lynn.

Nicoli Benevento, the father, was held in $10,000 for the grand jury by Judge Reeve after listening to the girl's story.

The torture began last February, the girl declared. Her father, she said, would strike her again and again on the head with a spool weighing a pound and a half, beat her with a rope, and tie her to a cot.

He threatened to kill her if she ver told er mother of the beatings. They were all administered after the mother had gone to work.

Last Tuesday she saw her father locking the door preparatory to giving her another beating, she said. She jumped out the window and ran. She collapsed in Market square, where Patrolmen Kane and Murphy picked her up. When she had recovered somewhat, she told them brokenly the terrible story of what she had run from.

GUILTY OF HURLING 3 CATS FROM 4TH STORY

On complaint of an observer who accused her of imperilling the twenty-seven lives of three young cats by pitching them out of a fourth-story window, Mrs. Catherine McCourt of No. 80 Dover street was in Municipal Court today, charged with cruelty to animals. She was found guilty and put on probation for a month. A. Porter of No. 65 Middlesex street made the complaint. He said the cats fell a foot away from him, but were apparently uninjured.

EXPLOSION ON BLIMP INJURES 2

Bursting Bomb Wrecks Craft; 3 Others in Crew Shaken in Plunge From Sky

Newport News, Va., Oct. 10.—The army blimp, TC-2, the largest non-rigid lighter-than-air craft yet built in the United States, was badly damaged and two of her crew seriously injured today when a bomb she was carrying exploded while she was in the air over Langley Field.

Lieutenant Bruce N. Martin, pilot of the ship, which belongs at the Aberdeen, Md., proving ground, and Lieutenant Alfred I. Puryear, observer, were seriously injured, while three sergeants composing the enlisted personnel of the vessel, were shockd by the explosion, but not sriously hurt.

BROKE GAS BAG.

The explosion of the bomb broke the gas bag of the ship which came to the ground as the non-inflammable helium with whcih the bag was filled escaped. The crew had no time to take to their parachutes.

The full extent of the damage to the ship has not been determined beyond the fact that the gas bag was severely torn by the explosion and fall which followed. The fact that the ship was inflated with non-explosive helium gas probably prevented her complete destruotion and the loss of the lives of all the members of her crew.

196 FEET LONG.

The TC-2 has a length of 196 feet and an overall height of fifty-nine feet. It was constructed for training purposes, her car bein gon an improved pattern and forty feet in length with two 150-horsepower motors set on a platform aft.

She had a speed of sixty miles an hour and an endurance capacity of ten hours in the air at that rate.

The ship had been sent from her station at Aberdeen, Md., to participate in air service maneuvres at Langley Field, and had taken on her cargo of four bombs today.

SKY SHIP SKIMS MOUNTAINS IN WONDER TRIP

Los Angeles, Oct. 10.—The Dirigible Shenandoah passed over Gila, Ariz., at 9:37 a. m., mountain time, according to advices received.

U. S. S. Shenandoah, Oct. 10.—Few voyages in history have furnished more thrills in as short a time as the navigation of the first passes of the Rocky Mountains by the Navy dirigible Shenandoah.

Driving ahead at a speed of 74 miles on hour, with a wind that roared through the tunnel-like canyons, the giant craft at times rose gradually until, between the highest peaks it was at an altitude of 6,800 feet, following a new and uncharted course with only a winding ribbon of highway and a glistening black railway track as uncertain guides. At other times it skimmed the ground so closely that frequently jagged mountains almost walled in this leviathan of the skies.

Before reaching the foothills of the Rocky Mountains, the Shenandoah passed over El Paso. Sailing over the mountains, twisting, turning, rising, falling like a great bird until the tortuous Rio Grande glistened ahead, the giant craft turned her nose toward the city's lights, hovered a while over the border metropolis and then crossed the Pacos River, leaving the Texas plains behind.

FOOTHILLS OF ROCKIES.

Soon the Shenandoan was in the foothills of the Rockies and in a few minutes mounted from an altitude of 3,700 feet to 6,200. The ears and eyes of those aboard reacted to the rarified atmosphere and the immense bags inside the tubes, which had been only partly full during the previous two days of the cruise, were contracted and straining against their network of cords. With every additional rise, some expand-

Giants Batttle Desperately to Win Decisive Game From Senators

Griffith Stadium, Washington, Oct. 10—The nerves of frenzied fandom were worn and frazzied today when the Giants and Senators, deadlocked in the climax of one of baseball's most sensational title scrambles, faced each other for the deciding quarrel.

Fiery Bucky Harris, Senators' leader, picked Ogden to hurl Washington into the world championship. McGraw appointed Barnes as the Giants' hill selection.

No provision had been made for the seventh game in Washington and sweating printers labored and cussed for delirious overtime hours in an endeavor to get tickets ready and available for the fans.

DESPERATE BATTLE.

With perfect confidence, the Giants had made arrangements to sail overseas today with the White Sox, on a world baseball tour. Instead, however, they were still in their war togs, fighting desperately to pull their singed chances out of the fire.

Perfect weather conditions brightened up the situation for the fans, and President and Mrs. Coolidge, with their entourage, appeared for the seventh and deciding game.

Every player in both camps was full of snap and fire during the preliminary practices and when the big gong sounded for the start of the bitter tourney, all but the game Peckinpaugh were fitand ready for the biggest baseball fight of their careers.

Peckinpaugh was out with torn leg muscles.

GRIFFITH COACHES RUEL.

Juht before the war began, Muddy Ruel, who has failed thus far in the series to hit safely, was taken into a corner by Griffith, the "fox," and given tips on critical hitting by the one-time master of the bludgeon.

Fans who had engaged in an all-night scramble for tickets, standing in lines that wound for blocks around the ball park, at last were rewarded, and the unprecedented confusion in Washington had settled down to a mere mild form of insanity when Lindstrom took a toe hold at the plate and waited for the first serving of the battle.

TWO ARRESTS NEAR IN BEVERLY MURDER; GRILL VICTIM'S WIDOW

NEIGHBOR BELIEVES HE SAW DEATH CAR

With the identity of the Norwood's Pond murder victim established, the police of Beverly announced today that they planned two arrests before nightfall. The suspects are under surveillance. The charge will be murder in the first degree.

Fred Risteen, 34 years old, a garage worker living at No. 26 Cabot street, Beverly, was the man whose body was found gloating in the pond in North Beverly more than a week ago.

It was bound with ropes and wire and weighted with an iron hook and heavy automobile parts.

Mrs. Mary A. Risteen, his wife, and George Plummer, a widower, and a boarder in the Risteen home, were questioned for hours today.

TELLS OF AUTO

A number of peculiar coincidences are being inquired into by the police before making arrests.

A witness has been found, it is said, who saw an automobile pull away from the Risteen house early on the morning of Sept. 21, the day that the murder victim disappeared. It is believed his body was in the car.

Wire used to bind the victim's body is similar to wire found on the farm which Plummer manages. The automobile engine block used to weight the body resembles one which is missing from the same farm.

Rumors that Plummer asked a friend about the time of Risteen's disappearance whether a heavily-weighted body would float are being investigated.

It is being recalled by the Beverly police that the garage worker had complained to them on several occasions of the attentions paid to his wife by the widower.

On the morning of the day on which he disappeared, according to Mrs. Risteen, her husband was helplessly drunk.

At 3 o'clock in the morning he had not returned, and she and Plummer started out to look for him. They found him near Hall's lunch room on Rantoul street, she said, and assisted him home and put him to bed.

TO EXAMINE BODY.

About 5:30 that morning, when she went to his room to see how he was, she said the room was empty. His clothes were gone. She was not worried, she told Chief of Police Davidson of Beverly, as she thought he had awakened from his drunken stupor and gone after more liquor.

Just now Mrs. Risten, maintaining ignorance of her husband's subsequent movements, is anxious that he return home.

She has told the police she is not satisfied that the body taken from Norwood's Pond was that of her husband and professed to think he is alive and in Lynn or Salem.

Risteen once left his home for three years, Mrs. Risteen declared. That the police know. A social worker was called in to make peace when he went home after that absence. Plummer took lodgings elsewhere, but only for a few days.

Chief Davidson does not believe Mrs. Risteen is being candid. He will make a further examination of the body to make sure of the identification, but says there is no doubt the murdered man was Risteen.

Physicians have stated that the murder victim was strangled, after being struck on the back of the head.

Plummer has an 11-year-old daughter, who lived with him at the Risteen home. Mrs. Risteen has two children.

It was Frederick W. Freeman, manager of the Northeastern Oil Company, in Salem, who gave the police their first start on the solution of the murder.

Freeman, after reading a description of the victim of the murder, told the police he was convinced that slain man was Risteen, who had been in his employ. Risteen worked at the oil station up until Saturday night, September 20. He did not show up for work on Monday morning.

INITIALS ON CLOTHING.

It was early on the morning of Sunday, September 21, that Risteen, according to the admissions of Mrs. Risteen and the boarder, Plummer, disappeared.

While all marks of identification were removed from the clothing of the slain man, yet the initials "F. R." were found marked on the lining of the watch pocket of the trousers with an indelible pencil.

This started a chain of investigation that finally ended in the wife and boarder being taken to police station and questioned.

250 KIDS AT FESTIVAL SAY IT WITH MUSIC AT THE WRONG TIME

YODEL TO GET SWEET REVENGE

Mention "Bananas" While Basso Attempts to Render Something Real Classical

Worcester, Oct. 10.—This music thing with charms tending to soothe the savage breast, got a touch of frost at the big Music Festival—kids under fifteen being savages O. K. in practice, but legally, however, only infants sweet.

Not having any other law to hunt up and go by, the 250 kids, after drawing the icy shoulder, raised their own voices in song, nearly wrecking the Festival and putting an awful strain on the bass soloist's soulful rendition of "Into the Noon of Labor I Go Forth."

It was all a mistake and a misunderstanding, the management said for the benefit of those who run [illegible] read. But the kids said it with music in a large protest.

In the beginning, the 250 youngsters were asked to raise their sweet trebles in song as [illegible] festival. They were tickled to death and at last Monday night's rehearsal, [illegible] finished singing about lambs and lights and shadows, they were seated in the hall, where they listened to the others do their stuff.

Naturally enough, the little darlings figured on free ducats for last night, during that part of the bill when they were not on in front of the footlights.

But the grown-ups were stern and the youngsters were herded downstairs for their hats and coats, while William Gustafson, the Festival soloist, was putting an awful strain on the acoustics upstairs with "Into the Noon of Labor I Go Forth."

He hadn't figured on how much labor, though. Downstairs the kids were getting madder and madder, finally, on inspiration breaking into a full chorus of well-trained voices with all the verses and choruses of "Yes, We Have No Bananas."

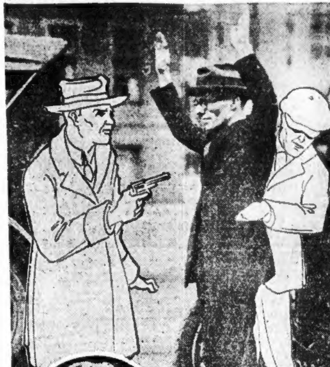
Figure it out until you're dizzy and you'll always come out with the answer that 250 kids' voices lamenting bananas outweigh the voice of a single basso in a labor version, by about 362 voices to one.

Things began to happen upstairs and in the ranks of the police but it takes a long time to get 250 squirming and singing kids into their coats and hats.

Then when they were eased into the open air, they gave an encore which mentioned one Barney Google prominently and followed with forecast that had to do with the improbability of further rain.

Then they went home, the little rascals.

HOW BANDITS HELD UP BACK BAY 'GAS' MAN



THOMAS McLAUGHLIN one of the two alleged gunmen, arrested after the holdup, by Patrolman Kerrigan.

JOHN BARRON, of Boston Gasoline station in rear of Hotel Copley Plaza, who was held up and robbed as shown in photodiagram above.

TWO BANDITS CAUGHT IN BACK BAY

Captured by Suspicious Policeman After "Gas" Station Holdup

This space on the calendar being "Kerrigan Week," Patrolman James J. Kerrigan of the Back Bay station unhooked his revolver early today and captured two ambitious holdup men who had just robbed John Barron at the Boston Gasoline Station in the rear of the Copley-Plaza.

On Wednesday night Patrolman Kerrigan, a war veteran, used his revolver in capturing two auto thieves in the rear of the same hotel.

JAMES J. KERRIGAN, Back Bay Patrolman who rounded up two prisoners after daring holdup in Boston gasoline station.

Then, on the previous night, he saved the proprietors of a rug store at No. 460 Boylston street from a probable heavy loss, when he discovered the front door had been left unlocked.

PURSUED BY KERRIGAN.

Altogether it has been a good week for the policeman. Early today two youths walked up to Barron, the gas station keeper and poked guns in his face. They looted the cash register of $2 and searched their victim, overlooking $50 hidden on the premises, however.

A few minutes later the hold-up pair came into Kerrigan's view and he became suspicious and placed them under arrest at the point of his revolver.

At the Back Bay station the pair gave their names as John Barrett, eighteen, of Union Park, South End, and Thomas McLaughlin, 25, of Second street, South Boston.

LOOKS INTO GUNS.

Police believe they may be responsible for numerous other gas station holdups in Boston and suburbs.

Barron had just finished with a customer at 2 a. m. when he saw the two walking toward him. They produced revolvers, and while McLaughlin went into the station, Barrett kept the victim covered and searched him, finding one lone dollar.

Friday the jury will look over the Norwood Housing Association property which figured in the suit, when there will be an adjournment for three weeks to allow counsel to prepare arguments. These are expected to last from five to ten days, when the jury will begin its work of reaching a verdict.

BOSTON AIRMAN MEETS DEATH IN ILLINOIS

Lieut. Larue Smith Crashes on Flying Field at Rantoul

Lieutenant Larue Smith of No. 85 Tyndale street, Roslindale, a reserve officer, was killed while flying a pursuit plane at Chanute Field, Rantoul, Ill.

A dispatch announcing the tragedy was received today by Captain Lewis R. Knight, in charge of the East Boston Airport. There were no particulars. Apparently the Boston aviator was aloft with his squadron.

Born in Okobaji, Iowa, Lieutenant Smith settled in Boston at the conclusion of the World War.

He had served on the Mexican boarder with the Iowa National Guard, and had seen much service over seas.

On Sept. 18 General Brewster ordered him on active duty at Chanute Field. His period of active service would have ended on Dec. 13.

Lieutenant Smith was a graduate of Iowa State College.

Lieutenant Smith's body will be brought to Boston for a military funeral. At the airport officers said they understood Mrs. Smith was very ill and could not be told of her husband's fate.

He Didn't Kill Her
Japan Ready in 3 Years
Milk Pail Stuff
Current Events

—By Arthur Brisbane

(Copyright, 1924, by Star Co.)

"AFTER SIXTEEN YEARS of happy married life, I allowed my wife to join the other man without trouble, because I loved her."

So says Dr. Alfred Lawrence Hall-Quest, an educated, civilized man. What he does was done by Ruskin.

MANY "HE-MEN" in our land will denounce such a course as pusillanimous, beneath the dignity of a red-blooded American.

Such forgiveness would seem strange also to the old-time Indian rajah. He, according to Montesquieu, turned his faithless wife over to an elephant to be tortured.

THE BALANCE of American masculine opinion, probably, would be in favor of the gentleman that chokes his wife, as Othello did on mere suspicion, or the energetic gentleman that hits her over the head with an axe when his sacred vanity is offended.

It is not easy to decide what civilization and right conduct really are.

THE JAPANESE look ahead. Give them credit for it.

Mr. C. G. Grey, managing editor of the Aeroplane, a sound British publication, said yesterday: "The Japanese mean to control the Pacific. And they know that it can be done only through the air. Several years ago they had a number of Englishmen, expert fliers and builders, teaching them how to build flying machines and run them.

"They have bought and are copying samples of the best flying machines made everywhere in Europe.

"At this moment there are in Japan seventeen factories, working night and day, turning out flying machines for war."

PRESIDENT COOLIDGE, his Secretaries of War, and of the Navy, might think over that statement.

If Mr. Coolidge will ask his two fighting secretaries to read the admirable editorial headed, "Of Sinister Import to America," published by Cyrus H. K. Curtis on September 29, it will help them to understand WHY the Japanese have seventeen factories turning out fighting flying machines.

MR. GREY says they are building some of the very big machines like the one recently bought from German builders. But they are specializing in the "one man, one bomb, light machines."

There are small, high-powered, terrifically swift airplanes, that could be sent out in clouds like mosquitoes. If one of them were brought down it would mean the loss only of one man and one cheap machine.

Japan, according to Mr. Grey, will be ready for war, on a big, aggressive scale, in three years. She has NOW the world's second biggest fighting air fleet.

MISS ELIZABETH MARBURY, active lady politician in New York, and a 22-karat female genius, is inclined to scoff. She refers to the fact that Mrs. Coolidge has made her own shirt waists, costing $1.69 apiece, baked her own cakes, etc., as "milk pail stuff." If Miss Marbury is not careful she will make votes for Coolidge.

"MILK PAIL STUFF" interests many women in this country, and men. Miss Marbury, with the fire of genius in each eye, made a big fortune quickly, bought the best plays, brought over the best actors, got rich quick. It is hard for her to understand the life of Mrs. Coolidge. As an underpaid school teacher she HAD to make her own clothes and was only too glad to cook her own food. She went on sewing and cooking after she married Calvin Coolidge, for he

DEFECTIVE KILLS MOTHER AND SISTER

Memphis, Tenn., Oct. 10.—Aquilla Redditt, twenty-four, mental defective previously believed harmless, killed his mother and a sister with an axe at their farm home. They told me to do it,' he babbled in the jail here today. Then changing his story to accuse "a woman," and then "a negro."

American Teachers Maimed in Attack At Rangoon

London, Oct. 10, (I.N.S.)—Buddhists at Rangoon attacked two American teachers, Mr. and Mrs. Greson, and maimed them for life, according to a dispatch received here today. Rangoon is shocked by the unprovoked attacks, the dispatch added.

DAWES CENTRES ATTACK ON SUPREME COURT ISSUE

Scouts Bluff, Neb., Oct. 10.—Charles G. Dawes, Republican nominee for Vice-President, announced today as he entered Nebraska for four speeches, that "soft pedalling" of the Supreme Court issue by the leaders of the LaFollette movement would not deter him from attacks on the independent candidacy based on that question.

"Realizing that they are combatting something instinctive in every patriotic American, they are soft pedalling a little bit on this proposition," he declared.

ing gas was released to prevent bursting the bags.

The peaks, thrown into strange shapes by the moonlight, seemed to come forward to grasp the graceful intruder and then fell back. The motors were driving through the air with 1,500 horsepower and the winds were straining at the airship, but, like an ocean liner, she responded faithfully to her rudders, sometimes quivering, but always going swiftly and surely forward. The roar of the wind on taut eardrums was the only proof of the hurricane over the mountain tops.

At Sierra Blanca at 10:15 p. m. the Shenandoah had an altitude of 6,400 feet and her trailing shadow below was registering 60 miles an hour over the ground.

HIGHER AND HIGHER.

The rocky walls stood away less than her length on either side, but the motors drove her forward and she obeyed her rudder and rose higher and higher from the jagged passes until she soared over the next ridge away from the railroad track, which disappeared through a tunnel.

Lieutenant Commander Zachary Lansdowne expects to anchor her in San Diego before dark tonight, ending the second length of the 9,000-mile cruise. Rear-Admiral Moffett, chief of Navy aeronautics, was on the bridge during the exciting moments, and declared the difficulties of navigation, with complications of buoyancy and uncharted land, were greater than those of piloting a warship at sea.

KIDNAPED GIRL FREES SELF BY YELL IN STORE

Rochester, N. Y., Oct. 10 (I.N.S.).—"Help me! Help me! He's kidnaped me! Police!"

That cry in a crowded downtown department store is responsible today for the freedom of Josephine Sarica, 17, of Binghamton, who declares she was abducted by Joseph Marabito, 27, also of Binghamton, and brought to this city.

Marabito confessed that he kidnaped Josephine after she had refused to marry him.

Jospehine conceived the trip to the store as a ruse to escape. She said she promised to marry Marabito if he would buy her some new clothes and in the crowded store she felt safe in crying out.

ITALY'S CROWN PRINCE TO WED BELGIAN

Unofficial Report of Engagement Between Humbert and Princess Marie Jose

Rome, Oct. 10.—Unofficial reports that a marriage engagement had been arranged between Crown Prince Humbert of Italy and Princess Marie-Jose, youngest daughter of the Belgian royal family, have caused congratulations to be cabled to the Crown Prince, now on his way home from his extended trip to South America.

No official confirmation of the engagement has been made, but in well-informed official circles it is stated that an announcement of the engagement is expected on October 20, immediately after the Prince's return to Italy.

Friedrichshafen, Oct. 10 (A.P.)—Thirty-two persons will be on board the ZR-3 when the giant dirigible built here by the Zeppelin Company for the United States navy, departs soon after daylight tomorrow on the transatlantic trip to Lakehurst, N. J.

RUM PROBE IN BOSTON JAIL ORDERED

Prisoners Sent There Monday Return to Court Drunk and Arouse Judge

Pat King, John Johnson, William Galvin and James Donovan are bound to get sober sometime.

On the strength of that theory, Judge Brackett of the Municipal Court sent the quartet back to the Charles street jail until October 14, with strict orders to get over a composite drunk which has lasted since Monday last.

On Monday the four were before Judge Brackett charged with intoxication. They took no interest in the proceedings and lurched about in a manner that endangered the courtroom furniture. They were sent to Charles street to sober up.

When they were brought up for sentence today Judge Brackett took one horrified look at them and then exploded.

"Why, they're drunk right now," he shouted. They're speechless. Where have they been getting it?"

The four refused to speak. Indeed, they couldn't. The judge said he didn't think any hangover could last so long, and ordered an investigation in the belief that some officer of the law had provided them with eight or eleven hairs of the same dog that bit them in the first place.

HERRICK WILL AID 'PRISONER' AT HARVARD

Student's Charges Against Ellis Island to Be Taken to Washington

Myron T. Herrick, ambassador to France, will take up with the authorities at Washington the detention at Ellis Island, N. Y., of Philippe Hottinguer, son of Baron Rudolph Hottinguer of Paris, it was announced today.

Young Hottinguer, who is a student in the School of Business Administration at Harvard, stated his father was also making representations at the Foreign Office in Paris.

Seen at his room, No. 52 Mt. Auburn street, Cambridge, the young man expressed the opinion that Ellis Island is an insult to humanity. He said the food is bad, the beds without mattresses, the blankets dirty and the attendants discourteous.

Asked if any reason was given him for his detention young Hottinguer replied: "Absolutely none."

Awarded a scholarship at Harvard by the Harvard Club of France, Hottinguer left early in September. On landing he was taken to Ellis Island, and claim he was "imprisoned" there for four days.

IF KIDNEYS ACT BAD TAKE SALTS

If Back Hurts or Bothers You, Take Jad Salts

When you wake up with backache and dull misery in the kidney region it may mean you have been eating foods which create acids, says a well-known authority. An excess of such acids overworks the kidneys in their effort to filter it from the blood and they become sort of paralyzed and loggy. When your kidneys gets sluggish and clog you must relieve them, like you relieve your bowels, removing all the body's waste, else you have backache, sick headache, dizzy spells; your stomach sours, tongue is coated and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges.

Either consult a good, reliable physician at once or get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize acids in the system, so they no longer irritate, thus often relieving bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, can not injure and makes a delightful, effervescent lithia-water drink. Drink lots of soft water. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year.

Picks Berries as Snow Falls a Few Miles Away

Worcester, Oct. 10.—While a miniature snowstorm raged in South Worcester today, Ernest L. Merriam was picking blackberries in his garden in Brookfield a few miles away.

The Worcester snowstorm started at 7:25 o'clock today and lasted for five minutes. The flakes were of mid-Winter proportions, but melted almost as soon as they fell.

Merriam lives on West Main street in Brookfield, and is harvesting his second crop of blackberries. Some of the bushes are in bloom, while most of them are bearing. He covers them at night to protect them from the frost.

WHEELER TOLD TRUTH ABOUT ALASKA DEAL

Washington, Oct. 10.—Secretary Work said today that he had found a copy of the Alaskan rate contract to which Senator Wheeler, the independent Vice-Presidential candidate, apparently referred in his recent speech at Seattle charging a "secret agreement between the government-owned Alaskan railroad and J. P. Morgan's Alaskan steamship company."

When Senator Wheeler first made his charge Mr. Work declared he never had heard of such a contract, but he said today that a search of the files had revealed an agreement made some time ago, somewhat along the lines described by Senator Wheeler.

The secretary added that he could not recall the names of the companies concerned in the agreement and was not in a position to discuss its details.

FIGHT TO BLOCK GARAGE WON BY PARENTS

Fire Marshal Neal Declares Dewey St. Proposition a Detriment

Victory crowns the efforts of parents of children, living on Dewey street, Roxbury, to prevent the erection of an eight-car public garage at No. 37 Dewey street. Fire Marshal George C. Neal today revoked the permit granted by the Boston street commissioners to Mrs. Rose Sneider.

The garage is already partly constructed.

Residents of Dewey street, upon learning of the fire marshal's decision, praised the American for its aid. Fire Marshal Neal says in his report:

"I find the garage is located in a thickly settled neighborhood. It is intended to be let for hire. Believing this garge detrimental to the residential character of the neighborhood I hereby revoke the license granted Rose Sneider by the City of Boston."

"Tunics still lead," say fashion flashes from abroad

Crepe de chine and chenille

the proper combination for fall tunics. Sketched is a tunic of crepe de chine, with chenille making the front panel, border and trimming on the new barrel sleeve. The sides are slashed to give freedom of movement without destroying the straight lines so necessary for fall. In rust, navy or black, sizes 36 to 46, $10.50.

Cordelette (rayon)

makes this attractive tunic for fall and winter wear, brightened by trimming of colored braid at the wrists, throat and belt. Its suppleness and sheen make this tunic one suitable for semi-formal or formal wear. In black, navy, brown, praline, or rust, sizes 36 to 46, $5.75.

Other blouses for women $5.75 to $35—fifth floor

"Meadowbrook" and "Chanel"

"Chanel"

—a sweater for women reproduced from an original French sweater that goes further to prove that the French have a way with sport clothes. As long as the popular tunic of fall fashion, and having the new placket front opening, it has all the "chic" of the French creation. In rust, navy, copen, green, or black, sizes 36 to 46, $13.50.

BEWARE THE COUGH OR COLD THAT HANGS ON

Chronic Coughs and Persistent Colds Lead to Serious Lung Trouble. You Can Stop Them Now With Creomulsion, an Emulsified Creosote That Is Pleasant to Take.

Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with twofold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and kills the germ.

Of all known drugs, Creosote is recognized by the medical fraternity as the greatest healing agency for the treatment of chronic coughs and colds and other forms of throat and lung troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membrane and stop the irritation and inflammation while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and destroys the germs that lead to consumption.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of chronic coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, catarrhal bronchitis and other forms of throat and lung diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or the flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold, no matter of how long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. Creomulsion Co., Atlanta, Ga.

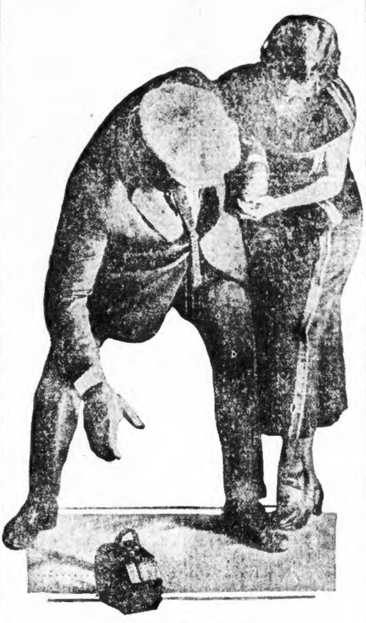
CHAMP SHOWS GIRLS WAY TO BEAT THUGS



WRIST BREAKS UNDER THIS HOLD

DEFENSE TOLD BY CHAMPION WRESTLER

"The wrist is the most vulnerable point of attack," says Ed "Strangler" Lewis, world heavyweight champion, in the first of a series of articles designed to show girls how to defend themselves if attacked.

"In this picture the woman grabs the attacker's left arm with both of hers. Using her right hand as a brace underneath the arm and close to the wrist, she bears down with her left. If you don't believe that to be about as effective as any hold, try it. It snaps the wrist if quickly and properly applied and leaves it dangling and broken. It causes excruciating pain as well. At the same time the leverage is applied the woman stamps her heel on the thug's toes, adding to his discomfiture."

In tomorrow's article Lewis will describe the elbow lock, another effective method of defense for women.

CHURCHES BURN AS AUTOS HALT FIREMEN

Sightseers Block Road to Onset in $100,000 Conflagration

Onset, Oct. 10.—State police were today probing a fire that destroyed two Catholic churches and two Summer cottages here and damaged five other Summer homes with a loss of $100,000.

Hundreds of automobiles which flocked to the scene of the fire at Point Independence blocked the roads for hundreds of yards about the fire and seriously crippled the firemen in their work. It was necessary for Chief Frank Harrison of the Onset department to summon help from Wareham, Middleboro, Falmouth, Cotuit and Buzzard's Bay before the flames were gotten under control.

The fire broke out in the unfinished Catholic church structure, spread to the old St. Mary's Catholic Church, adjoining, and thence to the Summer homes nearby.

The church under construction was valued at $50,000, and work on it was started last Spring. The old church, a frame structure, was valued at $20,000.

The summer homes destroyed were owned by Alice Devery of Dedham and John Smith of Brockton. Each was valued at $5,000. The cottages damaged were owned by William Harley of Rockland, the estate of the late George C. Holmes of Brockton, David I. Flowers of Boston and Mrs. H. H. Hassell of Taunton, who owned two.

FIVE-DAY LAW SPOILS PLANS OF ELOPERS

Refused Waiver, Dartmouth Student and Boston Girl Postpone Big Event

Trying to obtain a waiver of the five-day marriage law put a halt to a well planned elopement of Albert Linscott Manning, of Rochester, N. H., a wealthy Dartmouth student, and Miss Clara O. Anderson, of No. [illegible] Brighton avenue, Allston, a Boston music teacher.

The couple, who met two years ago at a social function in Boston, decided to get married and not let their parents know of the wedding until after the groom-to-be completed his studies at Dartmouth.

Manning, who is twenty-two years old and lives at No. 24 Wakefield court, Rochester, N. H., came to Boston this week and obtained a license at Boston City Hall.

The pair then went to the Municipal court to have the law waived but were unsuccessful, because Frank Anderson, father of the girl, was notified and it was agreed mutually by all parties concerned not to go through with the wedding plans at present.

1923 PROSPEROUS YEAR IN AUTOMOBILE TRADE

Washington, Oct. 10.—Production of motor vehicles in the United States staged a comeback last year after a slump in 1921, and reached a new peak. The value of the industry's output in 1923 reached a total of $3,163,327,874, according to figures in the biennial census of manufacturers, announced by the Census Bureau. This was an increase of 80.2 per cent. over 1921.

Manufacture of almost three times the number of closed [illegible]er automobiles as were made in 1921, and an increase of almost six times in the output of public conveyances, featured the year's developments.

CHICKIE APRONS ADORN MANY HOMES

Are Made in 2 Colors, Red and Green, With White Trimmings

In many, many homes today the Chickie Tea Apron is making its debut.

It is a festive and felicitous occasion, for the Chickie Tea Apron—we hope you will pardon us for being mildly but justifiably boastful—is a work of art. One might say it was a symphony of usefulness with a theme of beauty.

Those who are today giving one of these aprons a workout secured it by pairing up a couple of coupons from consecutive issues of the American and joining them to a quarter, two dimes and four pennies.

Chickie aprons can be found at the following newsdealers:

They come in two colors, red, and green with white trimming.

SAYS G.O.P. USES BROWBEATING TO GET VOTES

Powerful Interests Trying to Coerce the Progressives, Charges La Follette

Cincinnati, Oct. 10 (I.N.S.)—A new charge that the Republican party is intimidating the American people to vote for President Coolidge was hurled today by Senator Robert M. LaFollette, independent Presidential candidate, as he sped through Ohio to speak in Cincinnati tonight.

"Far more insidious, far more corrupt in its ultimate consequences is the use of the financial and economic power of business interests to intimidate and coerce citizens who are giving their support to the Progressive ticket," said La Follette.

"This pressure is being brought to bear upon business men, home owners, borrowers and employes—upon every class of citizens whose economic position enables these powerful interests to apply the thumb screw," he declared.

La Follette also took his first shot at Brigadier General Charles G. Dawes, Vice-Presidential candidate, whom he termed "the former partner of William Lorimer, who was convicted by the Senate of bribery and ousted from his seat."

SOUTH SEEKING TO LURE TRADE FROM NORTH

Shipping Board Told of Plan to Build Up the Ports at New England Expense

Washington, Oct. 10.—A differential imposed on freight shipped out of South Atlantic ports amounting to 7½ cents per 100 pounds or more than the rate for North Atlantic ports, was pictured today before the Shipping Board by Matthew Hale, head of the South Atlantic Freight Association, as the sole obstacle now in the way of development of Wilmington, Charleston, Savannah, Brunswick and Jacksonville as ports through which to move to foreign markets the prolific output of Middle Western producers and manufacturers.

In order to build up this trade and make shipping profitable at Gulf and South Atlantic ports Hale said, ocean rates must be equalized so that steamship lines here may obtain high-class cargo from the Middle West, in addition to local-class freight originating in the South.

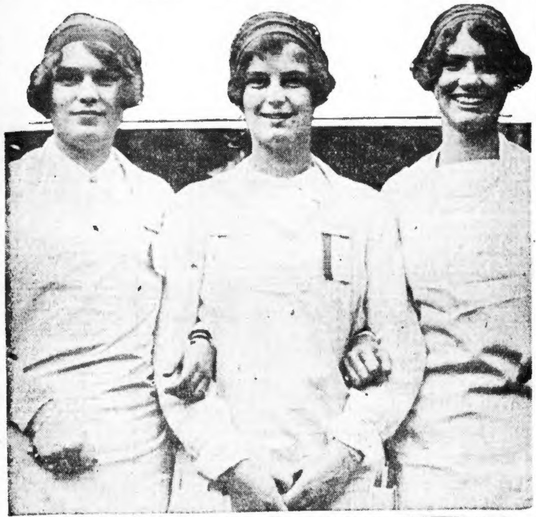
Junior League Is Now the Arbiter of Boston Debutante's Fate



BUDS OF THE NEW SOCIETY SEASON

A trio of buds of 1924-25 are the Misses Gretchen Brown, Virginia Lees and Eleanor Gibson. They have been selling Cape Cod products at Uncle Sam's Market Place.

By BETTY ALDEN

IT used to be the Sewing Circle.

You were asked to join this traditionally famous band and your debutante year was perfect. Or you didn't receive the coveted bid and you shed a tear in private, perhaps, and acted to the world at large as though you didn't care.

Then, a few years ago, no more sewing circles were formed. The circles of other years still meet quite regularly for luncheon or tea and chat to their hearts' delight about old times—and new times as well.

They talk about the duckiness of Rosamond's latest baby, the thrill of being presented at Court, or the number of times that Cornelia has become engaged and disengaged.

BUT now it's the Junior League that says "thumbs up or down" upon the debutantes.

The above picture shows a trio of smiling buds of the season who were made "leaguers" at a recent meeting of the Junior League.

They are Gretchen Brown, Virginia Lees and Eleanor Gibson, and they are seen here as they helped Mrs. J. Mott Hallowell and her committee sell the hundred and one fascinating things for sale at the Cape Cod booths at Uncle Sam's Market Place, Copley square.

Miss Lees' presentation is to take place the night before Thanksgiving, when her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter G. Lees of Chestnut Hill, are giving a dance for her at the Longwood Cricket Club.

Miss Brown is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jonathan Brown, Jr., of Bay State road and "Red Top Farm," Hamilton. The latter place, even during Miss Gretchen's sub-deb days, has been the scene of many delightful parties for the younger set.

Miss Gibson is the daughter of Mrs. Kirkland H. Gibson of Hammond street, Chestnut Hill. All three girls promise to play an important part in the activities of the widely-feted "first year" contingent.

LEST one think the Junior League is merely a terrible ogre whose sole object is to blight the lives of sweet young debutantes, the League performs many worthy tasks of charity.

Members of the League maintain a lunchroom, do social service work, see that many folk whom Santa might otherwise overlook have a bit of Christmas cheer, and present amateur theatricals to benefit this or that deserving charity.

Society Notes

POLICE MUST BE NEAT IN ANNUAL PARADE

Strict instructions on neatness of personal appearance and behavior to be observed by the policemen participating in the Boston Police parade Monday were issued in a general order by Commissioner Herbert A. Wilson.

Every officer in the department who is not sick, will be on duty during the parade, those not participating will be either on patrol or held in reserve at the station houses.

FORMER PREMIER OF NEWFOUNDLAND FREED

St. John's, N. F., Oct. 10.A grand jury investigating charges against Sir Richard Squires, former premier of Newfoundland, in connection with alleged irregularities in the course of his administration, returned no indictment.

The grand jury held that evidence in support of charges of larceny and of receiving money in the testimony of Mrs. Jean Harsant, formerly secretary to Squires, was insufficient to warrant finding a true bill.

"The Picture of the Century"

Don't miss YOLANDA.

It sets a new high standard of photoplay art that will remain for all time. For sheer, unalloyed beauty it stands without a peer.

The role of Yolanda offers Miss Davies the widest scope for her remarkable histrionic ability.

Her performance eclipses even her memorable interpretation of Pat O'Day in "Little Old New York."

LA FOLLETTE IS 2ND IN IOWA AND ILLINOIS

Herald and Examiner Poll Gives Missouri to President Coolidge

Chicago Oct 10.—A poll of more than 100,000 votes in the Herald and Examiner's presidential poll seems to put Illinois, Indiana and Iowa definitely into the Coolidge column. It also gives Missouri to Coolidge but by a narrower margin—a margin that has wavered back and forth between Coolidge and Davis since the poll began

Only in Kentucky and Tennessee does the count seem definitely in favor of Davis. In Tennessee, where the vote has been small, the Coolidge figure has kept near the Davis total.

La Follette is second in Illinois and Iowa, but third in Indiana, Missouri, Kentucky and Tennessee.

In Chicago, the Coolidge vote cast in the Herald and Examiner's ballot boxes now totals 86,017 against 28,652 for La Follette and 20,452 for Davis. That makes an Illinois total of 89,898 for Coolidge, against 30,496 for La Follette and 21,918 for Davis.

Roughly the figures indicate that Coolidge should carry Illinois by 360,000 votes over La Follette. Indiana by 50,000 over Davis; Iowa by 150,000 over La Follette, and Missouri by 40,000 over Davis, while Davis should take Kentucky by 150,000 over Coolidge and Tennessee by 20,000 over Coolidge.

In Chicago, Coolidge has polled roughly 42 per cent. of the total vote cast in the Herald and Examiner ballot boxes. Based on a total vote of 900,000—the approximate 1920 figure—this would give 378,000 votes. La Follette has 34 per cent which would give him 306,000, and Davis 24 per cent., which would give him 216,000.

LA FOLLETTE CAMPAIGN EXPENSES LOW, AIDE SAYS

San Francisco Oct 10.—Frank R. Havener, State campaign director for Senator La Follette today replied to a question raised yesterday by Chairman Butler of the Republican National Committee in a statement regarding "Who is meeting the La Follette campaign bills in California.

"The total receipts of the State campaign committee to this date have been a little over $8,000 for two months' campaign work throughout the State," said Mr. Havener. "All of our bills up to October 8 have been paid. I challenge the Coolidge campaign committee in California to produce a verified statement of expenses for the same period."

500 LABORITES TO STAND FOR ELECTION

Ishbell MacDonald, Premier's Daughter, to Conduct Brother's Campaign

London, Oct. 10 (I.N.S.)—While Labor party headquarters announced this afternoon that only 370 Labor candidates were in the field working for election to Commons, it is believed that number will have increased to 500 by election day, October 29.

Malcolm MacDonald, son of the Premier, who is now in the United States will stand for Parliament in the Bassetlaw division. He will be unable to return in time for the election, so his sister, Isabel MacDonald will conduct his campaign for him.

For the first time the Labor party will put candidates in the field to oppose former Premier David Lloyd George and H. H. Asquith.

Premier MacDonald appeared to hold the advantages as political forces rallied for the plunge toward election day nineteen days distant.

Tories are not in as good shape to go to polls as the Laborites. The Tories expect to put up [illegible] candidates and the Liberals 200.

IT'S INTERESTING, but that may not be a good thing for the ten-year-old college boy. The important thing is not to have a nineteen year old brain at the age of ten. But to have a first class, forty year old brain at the age of forty. That requires gradual brain development, not forcing in childhood.

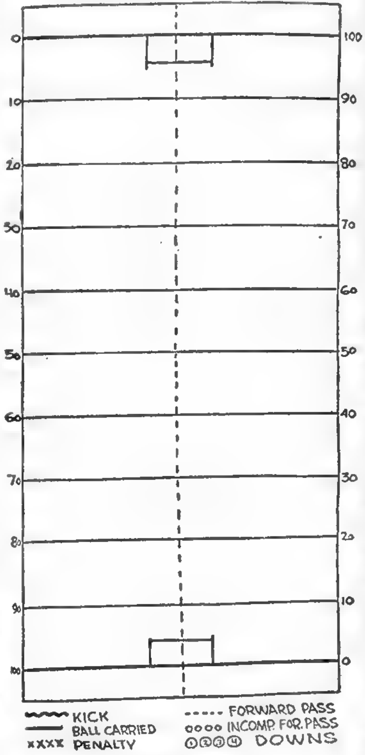
FOLLOW THE FOOTBALL GAMES BY RADIO



FIELD CHART

The above diagram is designed to aid you in following the football games. A key is suggested for your use. One suggestion is to use two differently colored pencils to designate the rival teams and drawing the movement of the ball. The dotted line is to enable you to follow the first half on one side and the second half on the other, or it may be divided into quarters. Remember—the ball is kicked from the 50 yard line—THE CENTRE OF THE FIELD—instead of from the 40 yard line.

WNAC Broadcasts American's Play Review

For the first time in local radio programs, possibly the first time anywhere, a newspaper review of a play was broadcast last evening by WNAC. Those who listened in on this station heard Major John J. Fanning, manager of the WNAC station, read the review of "Outward Bound," written by Nicholas Young, dramatic editor of the Boston American. This interesting play had its premiere at the Plymouth Theatre on Monday, and so impressed Major Fanning, who played the role of a first nighter on that occasion, that he felt radio fans should know how skilfully the dramatist, Sutton Vane, had drawn a picture of the journey from this world to the next. He selected Mr. Young's review for the purpose and gave it to the air last evening.

WILSON BODY TO BE PUT IN MARBLE SARCOPHAGUS

Washington, Oct. 10.—The body of former President Woodrow Wilson is soon to be removed from the crypt in Bethlehem Chapel of the Washington Cathedral and placed in a marble sarcophagus, where it will remain in the chapel, temporarily at least. The sarcophagus, which was designed by the cathedral architects at the order of Mrs. Wilson, probably will be completed within a month.

This WINDING Increases Amplification

SAMSON engineers invented wonderful machines which produce the famous Helical Winding. This winding, used only in SAMSON Transformers, increases amplification, eliminates distortion, minimizes distributed capacity.

All transformers claim these qualities; but SAMSON Transformers really have them, due to the Helical Winding and superior construction.

Try a pair of SAMSON'S and note the difference. SAMSON Audio Transformers in two ratios—6 to 1 and 3 to 1. Price $5. Radio Frequency in 3,000, 5,000 and 10,000 metre wavelengths. $4.50 each. Push-pull $10 per pair

Use McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Tablets

Every schoolboy as well as every grandmother knows that Cod Liver Oil is a great strength creator and body builder—the best on earth.

And thanks to science—they don't have to—for now at any drug store in America you can get 60 McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Tablets for 60 cents and before you have taken one box you will know as [illegible] the Doctors praise Cod Liver Oil and tell you that it is chock full of vitamines that build you up, make you strong and wonderfully aid digestion.

If you want to feel fit and fine all the time put your faith in McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Tablets—the original and genuine—as easy to take as candy and money back if they don't help you.

Hear the difference!

A loudspeaker is a critical thing. Any vibration in the horn adds sounds that nature never gave to the speaker's voice. And limited range thins down the tone to flat, unreal quality. Some people think that a near-real voice is the best that radio can give . . . but not after they have heard a Radiola Loudspeaker!

The difference is the result of elaborate experiment and extended science study. The Radiola Loudspeaker has an extraordinary range—gets the full richness of tone. And it adds no sound of its own. To know how clear—how mellow—how real your music can be—ask to hear a Radiola Loudspeaker.

Empty Shoes

Places of Some Great Football Stars Must Be Filled

NEVER did an aspirant for football honors have a grander chance to shine than this season. So many men of the higher type are missing this year that the array of empty shoes makes it look like the smoking compartment of a Pullman sleeper at 3 in the morning

Supposedly real contenders for the 1924 title are hit hardest. This is a good thing. It makes for an interesting race. Likewise it may give smaller fry a better chance. But which will admit at this stage to being smaller than the greatest?

Whence will come, and from where, the material to fill these gaps? Usually the star flashes in over night. Sometimes it takes a vast amount of development. But if the stuff is there it is revealed, sooner or later. Great coaches give all an equal chance.

It is a grand field, with unlimited possibilities.

'Best' Pitchers Get Walloping

Baseball has some odd twists; that's what makes the game, they say. Here is the latest oddity. All the experts predicted that Hugh McQuillan of Astoria and Virgil Barnes of Circleville, Kan., would produce just about the best pitching of the series, with the possible exception of Sir Walter Johnson.

How did it work out? McQuillan started Monday's battle only to fall by the wayside before the contest was half over. Barnes duplicated McQuillan's lack of effectiveness on his start, being pummelled for nine hits in five innings.

And old George Mogridge slow balled the Giants to death.

What's the answer?

Twenty-five per cent. of their share of $355,478.19 will go to the clubs that finished second and third in the two major leagues. This gives the Senators and Giants $266,810 to divide, 60 per cent. going to the winner of the world's series and 40 per cent. to the losers.

SHEVLIN AND SHADE LIKELY TO MEET IN RUBBER BOUT

By JACK CONWAY

EDDIE SHEVLIN, New England welterweight champion, and Dave Shade will probably be matched for a third bout within a few weeks. Negotiations [illegible] have been going on for some time. The [illegible] has been the question of weight.

Shade says the lowest poundage he will make for Shevlin is 1[illegible] pounds. Eddie wanted the weight for the affair 147 pounds. It now looks as though Shade will win his point on the weight dispute.

Billy Henderson, Shevlin's manager, had the following to say in discussing [illegible]

"A great amount of publicity has been sent out from New York in regards to Dave Shade [illegible] an opponent in the welterweight [illegible]

"NOW every one knows that Eddie Shevlin is a real welter and has defeated this year two boxers who were regarded as leading [illegible] Jimmy Jones and Ellie Birnbrook. Jones in his last appearance in Boston won the decision from Shade.

"From all this it would look as though Eddie Shevlin is the real opponent for Mickey Walker to meet. However, Shevlin is willing to meet Dave Shade in a match at any weight that Shade can make and then the real opponent for Mickey Walker would be the winner of this match. Eddie Shevlin will sign at once with any club that can secure the signature of Dave Shade."

PECKINPAUGH'S LOSS GIVES GIANTS EDGE IN FINAL GAME

FINISH UP SERIES TODAY

By NICK FLATLEY.

New York, Oct. 10.—The World's Series, a fifty-fifty proposition, has to end this afternoon unless the weather or a tie game drags it along some more. There was little likelihood of either contingency, so probably one thing or the other will happen. The collective experts are beginning to look like the Southern Democrats and other permanent fixtures.

But there we are this afternoon with betting on the wind-up even, and the populace wildly stirred up with the real old heat of baseball enthusiasm. The Senators, with Peckinpaugh again a helpless a[illegible]tler, should be beaten. The Giants with the same line-up that has carried along, and no new cripples, should win. But don't do any betting on it.

Every game played thus far has gone against the odds put down by the boys who are supposed to gather wealth speculating on sporting events. The boys who have been wrong this far are as numerous as [illegible] in [illegible] laundries, and there's no reason to suspect that the last day will not be like all the rest.

PITCHING will win this series, as has been [illegible] all along but just who will do the victorious chucking is something else again. This has been a tiiga series on the [illegible] up bones. The expected winners are buried in the dust of defeat, the halt and the feeble are the [illegible] heroes.

* * *

THE chances are, though, that today will witness another of those [illegible] each club has won three [illegible] but not much more than that. It would seem [illegible] of things, that [illegible] will come back for the Senators. After his initial essay, there must be one more epic in his [illegible].

* * *

McGRAW will have to introduce [illegible] right handers at [illegible] opening. He will probably bring a flock of them before the curtain ultimately falls.

MOST of the good pitching has been wrung out of series. The fade-out will probably have the entire ensemble marching in [illegible] succession from the bull pens to the peak and then back again.

* * *

THE Senators did not have Peckinpaugh today. He [illegible] the Thursday collision [illegible] the series. But his [illegible] after two days of freedom, chafed at the strain, and broke loose [illegible] more. One of the real dramatic spots of a series crammed with tragedy came when Roger was carried off in the ninth inning, while massed thousands cheered his ability and courage even as loudly as they howled for the entrance of Johnson a week ago—a week ago that seems ages long, looking back.

PECK did his darndest to win the first game, really won the second, then skidded off to the [illegible]. He came back in time to snatch the glory from the Giants in the sixth encounter. He made the hit that started the one rally that the superlative pitching of Nehf permitted. He was hobbling as he ran around the bases, but he wasn't easing up any. He marched around to the [illegible] the fifth, and then hung on grimly until the aching prop refused to hold him up in the ninth. But [illegible] ered long enough to assure a victory.

* * *

TWO [illegible] is just as g[illegible] a [illegible] Goslin w[illegible] circuit [illegible] were the great[illegible] of the [illegible]. Roger is [illegible] deserving of praise as Zachary, whose pitching yesterday was as near perfect as that of mortal can be [illegible] a game [illegible] the [illegible] if he can—but the other two [illegible] he shakes along the side lines, [illegible] what the modernists call moral support.

Moe and Joe They Get the Dough---Sometimes

Wow! Baby! Moe put over a lollipalosa yesterday! He slapped in a grand on Anticipation and the sweet lady toddled over the line with 10 to 1 chalked on the board. Oh, Louie, but that was a pip! Today he is going back to one that has just recovered from a dislocated jaw and ought to cop without Sandy McNaughton's rooting. Cash in kick $30,185.21.

NORA LEE A Story of Flaming Youth

HOW THE STORY STARTS

Margaret Meadows married Will Lee at seventeen. His dissolute habits soon made her miserable, but she endured him for three years. The night he raised his hand to his two-year-old child in a drunken rage she slipped from his home with her baby. She never saw him again. Margaret supported her daughter by teaching school in several villages, finally settling in Fairdale, where she met Andrew. Now continue the story.

was needed he jumped up, saying, "I'll get it." He brought in the tea and the baked apples. He kept watching Margaret, but her eyes were always on her plate. She didn't say a word until finally Nora Lee was uneasy and apologized:

"Don't mind mamma, Andrew," she said, quirking her eyebrows the way Cicey Parsons did. "She's been most extremely quiet all day. I guess it's the weather."

Margaret picked the frosting from her cake and laughed. Her eyes winked, as though there were tears in them.

Later, when Nora Lee was in bed, they went out on the porch, where the purple wistaria swayed like scented bells. They whispered a long while together, thinking she was asleep. It was then she heard Andrew say, "I'll take you away—we can go—"

Margaret answered as though she were afraid: "You mean you will leave her? You would go away and leave her!"

"Yes. She will be better off—a thousand times."

Margaret said to her: "My darling gypsy child, why in the world do you look at me so?"

Almost Cried

She almost cried then, she almost pleaded. "Oh, marmee, please I don't think you ought to go—" but she wouldn't. If Margaret liked Andrew better than [illegible] right.

Saturday they went [illegible] by the stream. Their baskets were only half full when Margaret sat down against a tree and closed her eyes.

Nora Lee waited quite a while. Then she said: "You can't be tired already, can you?"

Margaret answered dreamily: "Listen to that bird."

More minutes passed [illegible] the child asked in a low worried tone: "Are you waiting for anyone, marmee? Perhaps you might be waiting for someone?"

Just then Andrew came down the path and there was a smile like a great cry of joy all over Margaret's lovely face.

Nora Lee thought with a fright [illegible]: "Oh, it's today! They'll go today—"

Margaret kept her head turned, but you could tell that she was glad. She said: "Why did you come, Andrew?"

"It hurts no one."

"If I could think that, Andrew, if we were sure." She lowered her eyes, but her hand went out and touched his arm. Both were silent because so much was in their hearts.

Margaret looked at the sensitive profile with the full boyish mouth. A great warm pity filled and drew her. Looking at Andrew's face she could forget the world.

Last Hour

She thought: "This is our last hour. I have a right to this." For it would be an immense [illegible] in her thought and [illegible] the future years of [illegible] [illegible] warming her spirit in the sweet [illegible].

Now a humming bird poised on the wild honeysuckle. Its gauzy wings gleamed like emeralds. All about them was the wanton springtime flashing [illegible] and perfumes [illegible]. Margaret said: "Dear Andrew, look at that—how delicate—"

He answered: "Margaret, what are you going to do with me?"

"Must I answer that?"

"Yes—since you won't listen to me—"

"I cannot—I never can, Andrew. I would rather die."

He turned her hand moodily in his palm. "Yet, you say you care. Then what?"

She drew her hand quietly from his and looked across the fields. "Then I must tell you, Andrew—I am going away."

"You are going away? You mean this, Margaret?" He said it in quiet, awed tones. His lips grew very white. They sat down by the stream, forgetting the child, who was now creeping silently through the vines to the water.

That was the way whenever Andrew came. No matter what they were doing Margaret forgot about [illegible] and seemed so pleased that he was there. So he counted the most.

It Grew Dark

Nora Lee went scuffling along at the water's edge. Oh, what a mean world it was! She didn't care if the berries dropped. But whenever the shrubs massed thickly she was filled with terror and ran back to make sure that Margaret hadn't stolen away.

It grew dark. Mists of silver fell like many veils about the water. Shadows glided and returned.

Then those two sat there were standing. Andrew seemed looking at the ground for his head was down. Margaret glanced toward sky, still as a statue.

But suddenly their eyes were meeting. Andrew caught her hand, pressed and pressed it.

Nora Lee ran up and touched her mother's arm. She said eagerly, "Oh, marmee! Well, hello!"

Margaret didn't answer that. Her fingers were like ice. She didn't say, "Why, Nora Lee, where have you been—you frightened me, gone so long?" No—not a single word but only stared along the path that Andrew took.

The child was frightened and asked: "Mother, why are you looking so?"

Margaret smiled with her lips. Her eyes were filled with quiet. "How am I looking?"

"Don't please. Is Andrew going off alone?"

"Andrew is gone."

Desolation

Her ears were filled with sounds of desolation. For the first time [illegible] eight years of loneliness she did not know which way to turn. For the first time she thought that life was very cruel.

Andrew would not see her view. He said in hard even tones: "If this is right, Margaret, then murder is right and suicide and every destructive force we know. You are dooming me to this."

"You hate the [illegible] Andrew."

He sneered at that. "So I should be bound eternally to the [illegible]. Who gains because my life is warped? I tell you no one, Margaret. No one. Others have a right to aid us, no one has the right to stay, whether it be heart or [illegible]. If I permit this, I [illegible] as the one who holds [illegible] wife. Should you have stayed [illegible] murdered? This is what you [illegible] me."

And she could only answer over and over, "But she will not let you go—you have no cause."

He had a soft, quiet contempt for that: "I can forego the coward's sanction."

Yet when he was leaving he said in the gentle way he had: "Forgive all this Margaret. I won't come any more and you won't need to go away. It hasn't hurt me to know how fine life might have been."

Then he bowed and pressed her hand.

One day in the middle of the next week when the children passed the [illegible] house they saw boards nailed over all the windows. The wicker chairs were taken from the lawn. The lilac trees were stripped. Everything had a lonely look.

Terribly Excited

Nora Lee was terribly excited. She couldn't imagine what had happened and went flying back to the schoolhouse with the news. Andrew's house was all nailed up! He was gone. The white lady was gone.

It was a long time that Margaret just kept rubbing chalk from the old red plush erasers. The child said: "Well, you don't seem much surprised. You didn't know, did you?"

"Yes, I knew. This is [illegible] go away."

That made Nora Lee feel [illegible] and [illegible]. She didn't know what answer to make and kept raising her eyebrows in a quizzical way. Minna talked as though she didn't care—didn't pretend to care at all. Then why had she always looked at Andrew so? Why had she given that happy laugh whenever he was there?

She said vaguely: "Oh, I suppose he'll be coming back, huh?"

"I suppose so—"

"[illegible] That's why you don't care."

[illegible] under the fine powdering of chalk she saw Margaret's cheeks redden. Then there were tears in her mother's eyes. She hung her head.

Margaret said in a soft way: "We're going to have a vacation too, Nora Lee, you and I."

Moved Away

A few weeks after this they packed up. They even took the pictures from the walls. Nora Lee guessed by this that they were never coming back. She cried herself to sleep, hating to leave this place because the berries grew so red along the stream and there were such poppies in the fields.

The night before they went they walked out to the hills. It was a hot, gentle night. The sky had clouds of flame and pearl, there were sweet scents everywhere.

Nora Lee said: "Why do we have to leave, marmee? And never coming back?"

"You'll like it where we're going. It will be a lovely place."

"You can't be sure, can you? Are we going where Andrew is?"

"No—"

"Won't we ever see him any more?"

Margaret's clasp tightened on the child's hand. They were almost running now. The hills went all around them, [illegible] and [illegible] at [illegible] was. You could see [illegible] breasts [illegible] dark against the sky. You [illegible] a dream [illegible] like some deep [illegible] [illegible] was [illegible] yesterday.

[illegible] was terrible. [illegible] the [illegible] right [illegible] [illegible] life [illegible] dear [illegible].

Nora Lee [illegible]. "Why [illegible] we [illegible]?"

So [illegible] sweet [illegible]. "Did [illegible]. I have you [illegible]."

So they went away [illegible] the child and the mother [illegible].

No one knew how [illegible] regret in Margaret's heart [illegible] at its aching [illegible] which she [illegible] with [illegible] quiet grace from the sweetness [illegible] were so sadly [illegible].

[illegible] her spirit [illegible]. [illegible] Margaret went to [illegible] earth, Andrew to [illegible] [illegible] hunger that [illegible] kill.

SOME NEW WAYS TO SERVE SAUSAGES

ONE of the [illegible] to coax the family from their warm beds these chilly mornings is the spicy smell of cooking sausage—[illegible] the sure signs. Fall is with us and Winter is on its way.

Here are some new ways of dressing up an old friend:

BAKED SAUSAGE LOAF

- 1 pound sausage meat
- ½ cup of bread crumbs
- 1 egg well beaten.
- 1 cup of cold mashed potatoes

Form into loaf. Bake in [illegible] oven [illegible] browned [illegible] the grease two or three times during the cooking. Remove to hot platter and serve with baked apples.

SAUSAGE OMELET.

Bake one pound of sausage meat in a hot oven [illegible]. Drain and keep hot. Make an omelet with four eggs and when ready to cook, place 6 tablespoons of the sausage drippings in [illegible] and when smoking hot, add the omelet mixture.

Cook slowly and [illegible] omelet begins to set [illegible] sausage [illegible] and [illegible] the [illegible].

SAUSAGE CROQUETTES

Place one pound of sausage meat in a mixing bowl and [illegible].

- 2 cups of mashed potatoes.
- ¼ cup of bread crumbs.
- 1 onion grated.
- 2 tablespoons of finely minced parsley.

Mix well and mold into croquettes and dip in flour, then in beaten egg and in [illegible] fine bread crumbs and fry a golden brown in smoking hot [illegible] serve with tartar sauce.

SAUSAGES A LA MAITRE D'HOTEL

[illegible] sausages several [illegible] with a fork. Put in a frying pan [illegible] with boiling water and [illegible]. Drain [illegible] to [illegible] and browned [illegible]. Remove to hot [illegible] Maitre d'Hotel Butter [illegible] follows:

- ¼ cup butter
- ½ teaspoon salt
- ⅛ teaspoon pepper
- ½ tablespoon finely chopped parsley
- ¾ tablespoon lemon juice

Put butter in a bowl and work [illegible] small [illegible] work until creamy. Add salt, pepper and parsley, then lemon juice very slowly [illegible] teaspoon each red and green pepper [illegible] is an improvement. To chop parsley remove the leaves. If parsley is wet, first dry in a towel. Gather parsley between thumb and fingers and press [illegible]. With a sharp vegetable knife cut [illegible] through and through. Again gather in fingers and recut, so continuing until parsley is finely cut.

Sausages are nice broiled on a rack in the oven. Same as bacon in the oven, with apple quarters baked in a pan under them.

3 MINUTE JOURNEYS

By Temple Manning

IN Moorea, that unspoiled paradise in the South Sea islands, where no one works and where life can be enjoyed to the utmost, may be found types of natives that are among the most primitive in the world.

All kinds of game abound in the mountains and all varieties of fish.

Wild chickens and cocks are considered quite a delicacy among the natives. These wild fowl make their homes in the mountains and are extremely hard to catch. For this reason the natives have devised a most curious way of snaring the wild birds.

They use well-trained barnyard cocks to catch the wild chickens. Every village has its own particular pet cock and it is treated with the best of care. The youths of the village, when they go on a hunting expedition, attach a light cord about twenty feet in length around the cock's leg and lead him up into the mountains, where, with the cord still tied to his leg, he is released.

The cock begins to crow loudly and the wild birds, hearing the challenge, quickly answer it. The boys retire behind some huge rocks, but watch their cock from a distance of about two hundred feet.

Both cocks then begin to fight. In their fierce struggle for supremacy they become entangled in the twenty-foot length of rope and when the boys are certain that both are securely enmeshed they rush in and seize their prize. The cord is disentangled and preparations for another fight are made.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

Dr. F. X. Mahoney
Boston Health Commissioner

CHRONIC ill-health is very frequently due to displacements of the abdominal organs. These displacements not infrequently are caused or made worse by occupation or by over-indulgence in such sports as golf, tennis, basket ball, hockey, polo or indoor gymnastics.

Dr. Ma

The presumption that these abdominal displacements do exist is established by the existence of habitual constipation, especially when associated with disturbances of the stomach and with headache.

In all such cases there ought to be an exact diagnosis made as to the condition and especially the position of the abdominal organs. This is readily done by either one but especially by both of two methods.

The first method consists in a physical examination by your physician who ought to palpate the abdomen and then do what the physicians call "percuss" it, that is, tap it gently to determine the sounds that may thus be elicited.

The next method of examination is that by X-rays.

It is desirable to have pictures taken as a matter of record. The X-ray operator may, however, simply look through the body by means of this ray and thus determine the position of the organs. He can then very readily make a pencil sketch showing with relative accuracy the various positions as he has observed them.

If these have not been observed you will not have been properly examined for displacements and abdominal organs—a condition technically called "splanchnoptosis."

QUESTIONS ANSWERED

Have either hay fever or catarrh. Is there any cure for it?

Miss M. J.

It seems to me that your trouble is hay fever, since you are only troubled in the late Fall. Would suggest that you go to one of the local hospitals and be tested out to see what pollen affects you and take the vaccine treatment they will recommend.

How can I prevent gas from gathering in my side?

N. P. T., Worcester.

Why not give up medicine for your bowels and give your attention to the proper diet and exercise to correct the condition?

I have a mother who has been troubled for years with rheumatism. She would give a lot of money to be cured. Is there anything you ever heard of which might help me?

It would be impossible for me to recommend anything, much as I wish I could. There are several causes of rheumatism and the only way to cure it would be by determining the cause and trying to cure it and in that way you might be able to help her.

LA FOLLETTE GAINS ON 15TH DAY OF POLL

other bad day. He held first place, as usual, leading La Follette by 119 votes on the day, but he trailed the combination of La Follette and Davis by no less than 338 votes.

Another week of the same sort of voting and the followers of La Follette will begin to think the Senator has a slight chance, even in some Eastern territory. At present, however, in a total of 11,123 votes, Coolidge leads the Progressive by 2,114.

Details of the fifteenth day of balloting:

Total vote	1,872
Coolidge	767
La Follette	648
Davis	457
Coolidge over La Follette	119
La Follette over Davis	191
Coolidge trailing both together by	338

Shift of Democrats to Coolidge.	60
Republicans to Davis	124
Democrats for La Follette	227
Republicans for La Follette	291
Others for La Follette	130

A glance at the accompanying table will show where La Follette strength was revealed, in Worcester, in Haverhill, in the neighborhood of the car barns on Cypress street in Brookline and in the vicinity of the big Jamaica Plain shoe factory of the T. G. Plant Company.

A tremendous La Follette vote may be looked for next month, almost beyond question, in the shoe and textile centers.

The Worcester votes were collected in the Slater Building, on Main street from Franklin street to Lincoln square, in the Worcester Market, in big department stores and on ten floors of the Park building.

Woonsocket Is First City To Give Davis Lead

Woonsocket, R. I., Oct. 10.—John W. Davis leads!

From no other city in New England has this report been forwarded since the beginning of the Boston American's Presidential Preference Poll, and yet the unexpected happened here on the second day of the local inquiry:

Davis	86
Coolidge	71
La Follette	62

Shift from Cox to Coolidge	4
From Harding to Davis	9

American Poll in 3 Other States

	Coolidge	Davis	La Follette
Maine	261	103	72
N. H.	369	296	343
R. I.	986	703	369

Dems for Coolidge	Reps for Davis	Dems for La Follette	Reps for La Follette	Others for La Follette
7	11	32	31	9
18	17	129	58	156
41	85	197	216	156

Democrats for La Follette	18
Republicans for La Follette	11
Others for La Follette	33

The voters included workers in the Falls Yarn, the Guerin and the Lippitt Woolen Mills and employes of the Blackstone Valley Gas & Electric Company. Subsequently, the investigators toured South Main, Mason, Old Canal and High streets. La Follette ran third, but it was a good third.

Coolidge Leads by Only 8 Votes in Concord, N. H.

Concord, N. H., Oct. 10.—It was no surprise to find President Coolidge, the favored candidate in the seat of New Hampshire government, but it was something of a shock to discover him leading his two opponents by only eight votes in a total poll of 176.

The story in brief:

Coolidge	92
Davis	63
La Follette	21

Democrats for Coolidge	4
Republicans for Davis	8
Democrats for La Follette	7
Republicans for La Follette	8
Others for La Follette	6

A surprisingly large number of the Concord women asked by a young woman reporter to state their preferences declared that they are "not interested in politics" and do no intend to go to the polls. The fact that so many other Concord women are active workers in the party organizations made this discovery somewhat startling. It may be of interest to campaign managers and others.

NEWS OF THE POLITICIANS, BIG AND LITTLE

Correspondent of the Herald wires to his newspaper from Sioux Falls, S. D., that the speeches of General Dawes have cost President Coolidge votes in that region and that the Republican ticket appears to have lost ground.

The final weeks of this campaign are going to be exciting.

Captain John G. Winant, Republican candidate for Governor of New Hampshire, calls attention to the following plank of the platform adopted by this year's Republican National Convention:

"We commend Congress for its prompt adoption of the recommendation of President Coolidge for a Constitutional authorizing Congress to legislate on the subject of child labor, and we urge the prompt consideration of that amendment by the legislatures of the various States."

"The Child Labor amendment does not legislate," Captain Winant says, "it only empowers Congress to legislate. The age limit specified gives to Congress no more power than is already possessed by the New Hampshire Legislature. The New Hampshire Legislature has made reasonable use of its authority; we can expect no less of our Federal Congress."

Following is the text of Referendum No. 7 as you will find it on the Massachusetts ballot next month:

"Is it desirable that the General Court ratify the following proposed amendment to the Constitution of the United States:

"Section 1.—The Congress shall have power to limit, regulate and prohibit the labor of persons under 18 years of age.

"Section 2.—The power of the several States is unimpaired by this article except that the operation of State laws shall be suspended to the extent necessary to give effect to legislation enacted by Congress."

Governor William S. Flynn of Rhode Island has a mean and unpleasant sort of memory. Remembers, he says, that in 1906 Jesse H. Metcalf was a Democratic candidate for the House of Representatives, on a platform calling for a Constitutional Convention. Which is again the big issue in 1924.

Mr. Metcalf is the Republican candidate for the United States Senate this year, and the Rhode Island Republicans do NOT want a Constitutional Convention.

FINANCE

By B. C. Forbes

When shoes made in Massachusetts have to be sold in Africa, cotton goods manufactured in the Carolinas have to be sold in China, silver produced in the West has to be sold in India, cash registers made in Ohio have to be sold in Australia, fruit grown on the Pacific Coast has to be sold in Europe, grain grown throughout the West has to be sold in London, copper produced in Montana has to be sold in Germany, dynamos made in Pittsburgh and Schenectady have to be sold in the Orient — when the prospective buyer is thousands of miles away from the producer and when so many things can occur to cut down the buying power of the prospective consumer, is it altogether astonishing that we have periods of excessive production, periods of scarcity, and, as a consequence, fluctuation in the demand for workers?

The statement is made by the Russell Sage foundation, after an exhaustive investigation, that there are constantly in the United States from one million to six million unemployed.

Does not this one fact explain much of the present-day dissatisfaction with our modern industrial system?

What can be done about it?

Upon who does the responsibility for this deplorable condition rest?

* * *

It isn't sufficient simply to reply "upon our complicated modern system of doing business."

Nor does it avail anything to blame the government or any political party.

If our industrial system is not working satisfactorily, is it not clearly up to those at the head of our industrial system to address themselves diligently to finding out and apply every possible remedy?

* * *

Happily, something is being done.

Unhappily, not enough is being done.

The President's conference on unemployment, an influential gathering representing employers, employed and the government, was held at Washington the last time unemployment was widespread and the subject was then discussed comprehensively. Sensible suggestions were offered and plans were laid to bring about various reform measures. The visible fruits, however, have not been tremendous.

Through his ardent advocacy of standardization and elimination of waste, Secretary Hoover has been able to accomplish something.

Engineers, executives and also academic theorists have been applying themselves to the study of the much-discussed but little fathomed "business cycles."

Only the other day railway executives got together to do their part in insuring steadier employment than heretofore for railway workers. Their efforts promise to lead to very substantial results.

TRADE TREND FAVORABLE

R. G. Dunn & Co's Weekly Trade Review in this week's issue will say regarding trade conditions in Boston:

Trend of business is favorable, though progress continues to be slow. The woolen trade is optimistic, prices are still advancing, and trade is active in all lines. Woolen mills are gradually working nearer to full production, orders for men's wear coming in better; many of the numbers of dress goods have been withdrawn.

Worsted yarns are moderately active, and knitting yarns are in good demand, although quotations have been advanced. Cotton goods in the primary markets, while not particularly active, are moving better. Higher quotations are being given on cotton goods, the advance being the most noticeable in print cloths.

Cotton yarn prices are also up, but the increases have restricted buying, and the market is quiet.

The shoe business is active, principally on current orders, which are being received in good volume, but forward orders are disappointing. Stocks of leather have been decreasing during the last two months, and the tendency of prices is now upward.

Leather quotations are not yet in line with hide prices, which have advanced considerably, and are still tending upward. Sheep skins are active, but in other lines the demand is moderate.

Brick is quiet, but cement is moving better, spruce and flooring are quiet, with no change in quotations, and hardwoods are slow, with prices weak. Pulpwood is active, at firm prices, and mills are slightly busier.

Hosiery and knit goods manufacturers are increasing their output. The jewelry business is recovering somewhat from several months of dullness.

QUOTATIONS ADVANCE IN COTTON FUTURES

New York, cotton futures prices were 36 to 46 points higher, with October at 24.97, up .36; December 24.12, up .42; January 24.18 up .45; March 24.49 up .47.

Liberty Bond Prices

Liberty bond prices (fractions in 32ds) were: 3½s 100.27; first 4s, 102.4 bid; second 4s, 101.9 bid; first 4¼s, 102.9; second 4¼s, 101.13; third 4¼s, 102.1; fourth 4¼s, 102.11, Treasury 4¼s, 106.1.

PROFIT-TAKING APPEARS IN NEW YORK

New York Stock Exchange price changes indicated a readjustment of speculative accounts for over the week-end.

There was a marked absence of bear selling, although General Electric and Woolworth receded sharply on profit-taking recommended by some commission houses.

Food, copper, public utility and steel shares displayed a firm tone with good buying also noted in American Can, Baldwin, American Radiator, Radio Corporation and Gulf Mobile and Northern preferred.

U. S. Steel sold up to 108⅜ before noon. American Water Works extended its early gain to 4¾ points. Call money again renewed at 2½ per cent.

In Boston Stock Exchange trading Amoskeag Manufacturing common added a dollar to 71 as did Copper Range at 23½, and St. Mary's Mineral Land at 34½. The last named was quite active at this price. There were half-point gains in Calumet & Hecla at 15½, New Haven at 23⅜, and New England Telephone at 105¼.

Stock Listed Since 1870 Leaves Board

THE listing committee of the Stock Exchange has stricken Consolidated Coal from the list of stocks dealt in. That action was taken at the request of the company as a result of correspondence between it and the listing committee regarding the issuance last Spring of $10,000,000 pfd. stock, following which the previously outstanding capital stock automatically became common stock.

Consolidated Coal was a veteran of the New York Stock Exchange, having been listed in 1870.

It is surprising how many uses one can find for a little featherweight rubber apron, such as The Boston American's new feature—the Chickie Tea Apron.

It comes in two colors—Red—and Green with white fringe. Made of pure gum rubber, with fringe that prevents rips and tearing.

HOW TO GET IT!

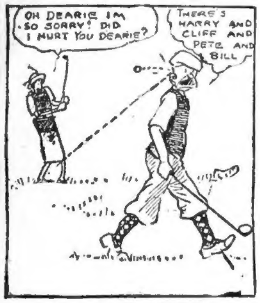
Why Men Like Golf

And Why They Don't Enjoy Playing With Their Wives

A talented young gentleman named Briggs, who makes pictures for various newspapers throughout the country, prints, in a series of six, the picture that you see here.



OH DEARIE IM SO SORRY! DID I HURT YOU DEARIE?
THERE'S HARRY AND CLIFF AND PETE AND BILL

HIS MIND IS ELSEWHERE

This gentleman is playing with his WIFE. You see her in the background. She has just made a shot with well deserved precision. The husband is, so preoccupied with his sorrow, being compelled to play with his WIFE and "miss the BOYS" that he is not conscious of the fact that a ball of rubber is bounding away from a wall of solid ivory.

In one spot he says, as you see here, "There's Harry and Cliff and Pete and Bill." At the very end of the game he is still saying, "There's Henry and Val and Ray and George."

Man is an inferior animal, a gregarious made creature, and therefore it's cruelty to animals for a wife to let her husband go playing golf with her.

Golf is a game that men enjoy because it gives an excuse for the outlet of their natural emotions.

At golf they can brag, they can make fun of the other man, they can compete, they can TALK ABOUT THEMSELVES, which they enjoy immensely, and when it's all over, each man can tell the other how wonderful he was.

You can't do that with your wife. She only says, "I don't think you played so very well, and anyhow, what does it matter? I think the time would be much better spent at your office getting rid of the mortgage."

Golf is no game for a woman. Briggs is a good artist.

About Religion—

Lotteries, Etc.

"To discourage vice, make it expensive," the old gambler said when he gathered in "a pot."

To encourage religion, make it interesting.

The Rev. Dr. Fosdick, expelled from his church for heresy, preached to crowds. Non-conformist churches in England want to hire him. Mr. Fosdick may be right or wrong in his opposition to the fundamentalists. But apparently his objecting to some of the old beliefs makes his heterodoxy interesting.

To rebuild the devastated regions France will issue two and one-half billions of bonds, with a lottery attachment. Every bond may make its owner a millionaire. Such bonds sell rapidly, and prizes given add little to the interest rate. Lotteries are common in Europe.

But they discourage effort, causing those already lacking ambition and energy to depend on luck. Why are European lottery bonds sold here, where all lotteries are illegal?

International bootlegging is not all smooth joy. Sir John Stewart, Scotch baronet and distiller, killed himself the other day, when he failed to get a $1,000,000 contract from the "King of American bootleggers," whichever he may be.

Now, John Quiller Rowlett, a well-known Englishman, hangs himself in the billiard room of his London establishment because of bootleg losses.

It is all right and respectable in England to make bootleg money out of foolish prohibition Yankees if you can. It is like selling beads to savages.

Rowlett was a conspicuous citizen. He financed Shackleton's South Pole expedition to the tune of $250,000, founded a scientific institute, and the Queen herself attended the opening and accepted a gold key.

The trouble is, it seems, that those Yankee bootleggers are so unreliable that they will even swindle a British baronet out of a shipload of whiskey if they get the chance. Too bad.

Shenandoah, on Her Way

Think of Other Machines

The Shenandoah is on her way from the Atlantic to the Pacific Ocean, beginning a trip of 7,000 miles. She will go slowly, only about 60 miles an hour from one city to another. But please consider what damage half a dozen such air giants could do if they carried TNT and poison gas with them, instead of friendly messages.

After you consider that, ask yourself how much damage could be done by two thousand fighting airplanes traveling across the country at 300 miles an hour. After that, if you please, write to your two Senators telling them that this nation should be OVERWHELMINGLY ahead of all others in the air.

Did you notice the other day that a brave young flier was killed, with his wife and a great crowd looking on? That unfortunate young man was racing a typical UNITED STATES airplane, old, worn out, and one that never had been good. Public men who think that good fliers' lives are cheaper than flying machines are mistaken.

GETTING EVEN WITH NOUVEAU RICHE

By DR. FRANK CRANE

THE other day a man told me a good story.

A woman kept a boarding house at a resort in the country.

She did no advertising, but nevertheless carried on a very good business for she was a good cook and one customer recommended her to another. Consequently her house was rather full all of the time during the season.

On one occasion a gentleman whom we will call Nouveau Riche happened along. He was dressed in a nice new top coat and hat. He looked like a million dollars and probably was.

He had the air of one who spoke with authority. As he entered the place he handed his hat and coat to the boy and asked the way to the dining-room. There he ordered the headwaiter to give him a seat, but was informed that all the seats were taken and he would have to wait for a little while.

"I am not in the habit of waiting for anybody," said the visitor.

"Then excuse me a moment, I will see the madame," said the headwaiter.

Presently he returned and said that dinner would be served the gentleman in a private room if he must eat right away.

After partaking of an excellent dinner in the private room the gentleman called for his bill.

"There is no bill," said the waiter.

"What do you mean, no bill," said the gentleman. "I pay for everything I get and if you do not give me a bill I won't come again."

"That is what the madame thought, sir," said the waiter politely.

This fable teaches us that it is sometimes very expensive to get something for nothing.

Another fable is of similar import.

A lady found that she owed $200 after an afternoon spent at a friend's house, in order to pay her bridge debts. She did not gamble and did not know that they were playing for money until it was too late.

"But never mind," said the hostess, "your husband can send me a check."

When the husband sent the check he made it out for $205. This included the bridge game and the lunch.

It is needless to say they were not bothered with that lady's attentions any further.

THE HELPING HAND

Letters Not Answered Personally. No Attention Paid to Telephone Calls or Anonymous Letters. No Names Published

Family Is Destitute

Helping Hand Editor:

I am writing you about a poor family in Roxbury. A friend took me to see them yesterday, and I will never forget the conditions I found. All they had was a couch bed and three old chairs, not even a table. The husband was in the insane asylum all last year and is out on trial. He can work only a day or two each week at very light work. The poor woman has two children 2½ years and a baby ten months. If anyone could send her an old table or anything in the line of furniture she will surely appreciate it. MRS. H. E. M.

Received Clothes.

Helping Hand Editor:

I received the clothes from Mrs. D. of Somerville, and wish to thank her and you for her kindness.

MRS. M. D.

Wants Use of Piano

Helping Hand Editor:

I would like to know if any one of your kind readers has an old piano that I could take a few lessons on? My mother is a widow and has two other children. My father is dead. We would be thankful for some clothing for boys fourteen and eight and for myself, age twelve; also for mother.

MARIE H.

Grateful Family

Helping Hand Editor:

I wish to extend many thanks through your column to the people who came to my home and left the things for us. Everything was wonderful and came in very handy. My little girl was delighted over the doll and the dresses. Am sorry I was not at home when they called so I could have thanked them personally. My husband also wishes to thank them. MRS. B.

Old Carpet Wanted

Helping Hand Editor:

Has any of your kind readers an old carpet or oil cloth that they don't want? My baby creeps on the floor, and it is too cold on the bare floor now. I would be more than grateful. MRS. E. C.

Many Things To Give

Helping Hand Editor:

Would you please send some needy mother to my house? I have a number of things I feel sure one can still get some use out of, such as new baby's things, socks and play shoes for a three-year-old child, curtains, etc. I will gladly pay any carfare. MRS. J. L.

Thank you. We have asked Mrs. A. C., mother of seven small children, again expecting the stork, to call for the things you so kindly offered to give away.

Needs Wheel Chair

Helping Hand Editor:

I wonder if there is some kind reader who could provide a small wheel chair for a little girl 17 years old, who has been a cripple from birth. She has to sit in a chair all day and depends on a frail little mother to lift her when necessary. They would be willing to pay express charges. E. B.

Mrs. M. S. Thanked.

Helping Hand Editor:

I wish you would thank Mrs. M. S., So. Barre, for the box she sent me. The things fit just right and surely am grateful to her.

MRS. M. L.

Asks for Mattress

Helping Hand Editor:

I am a young mother of two small children. We have just started housekeeping, and my husband has been out of work for three months. I would be grateful to anyone for a small bed mattress and some bed clothes.

MRS. L. M. K.

Offers Winter Coat

Helping Hand Editor:

Please send me the address of some needy woman or girl. I have a Winter coat, size 40, in good condition and a pair of nice tan boots, size 6½. MRS. A. W. C.

Thank you. Mrs. G. B., mother of six small children, can make good use of this coat and the shoes.

Woman Needs Work

Helping Hand Editor:

I wonder if you could get me a couple of days' work among your dear good readers who are doing so much to help the needy? I have two girls, eleven and eight years old and, being a widow and not able to work steadily, it is very hard to get along. I am a good clean worker and will do my best to please. MRS. M. O'C.

Glad to Get Them.

Helping Hand Editor:

I want to thank you and Mrs. M. C., Roslindale, for what you have sent me. The things came in very handy and I was very glad to get them. MRS. R. E.

ORIGIN OF THE CHILD LABOR AMENDMENT

Following is the text of the child labor amendment to the Constitution upon which Massachusetts voters will act at the election, November 4:

Section 1.—Congress shall have power to limit, regulate and prohibit labor of persons under 18 years of age.

Section 2.—The power of the several States is unimpaired by this article except that the operation of State laws shall be suspended to the extent necessary to give effect to legislation enacted by the Congress.

By OWEN R. LOVEJOY,

General Secretary of National Child Labor Committee, New York

MAYOR CURLEY of Boston has discovered a mare's nest. After helping draft the State Democratic platform, urging ratification of the child labor amendment, he now turns upon it and denounces it. Why? Evidently this amendment is to be judged, not on its merits but on its alleged pedigree. That ought to simplify the discussion.

Owen R. Lovejoy

That amendment was drafted by a group of people representing over twenty-two national organizations who combined to secure an amendment giving Congress power to protect working children. So far as I know there wasn't a Socialist in the group, and I am positive there were no Communists or Bolsheviks.

But if there were Socialists that would be no discredit to the measure any more than we should discredit fair weather because a Socialist happened to enjoy it; or cut out coffee and rolls because he has them for breakfast.

Referred to Harvard Dean

The final form of the amendment was written by Rev. Ernest Johnson of the Federal Council of Churches. When the amendment was drawn up it was referred to Dean Pound of Harvard and other prominent attorneys and was championed in the Senate by Senators Shortridge of California, Robinson of Arkansas, Welsh of Montana, Pepper of Pennsylvania, Lodge and Walsh of Massachusetts and other distinguished members of Congress.

Does Mayor Curley wish us to believe that President Coolidge, Senators Lodge and Walsh, Mr. Gillett, Governor Cox and Mr. Fuller are Socialists or Bolsheviks? This whole attack is silly and childish, unworthy of His Honor the Mayor and unworthy of Senator King of Utah and Senator Wadsworth of New York who first discovered the same ghost.

This amendment must be judged on its merits. If it is Socialistic, then so is our compulsory school attendance law, our protective tariff, our postoffice and our national banks.

Exactly what is the issue before us? Efforts have been made to secure uniform child labor laws throughout the country. Those efforts have failed. Two Federal laws have been passed and annulled by the Supreme Court. This proposed amendment is an enabling act, giving Congress the power which the Supreme Court says does not now exist.

Power to Congress

If ratified it will put the country in precisely the position we thought we were in when the first and second Federal acts were passed. It will simply confer on Congress a power President Wilson then believed existed, that President Harding believed existed, that President Coolidge believed existed, that John W. Davis believed existed, that Robert M. La Follette believed existed.

It simply amounts to a declaration that, since it has been discovered that Congress has no power to protect working children Congress shall now be given that power. I think it fair to add that if those States which now exploit their children under conditions which Massachusetts would not tolerate were at once to pass laws comparable to yours Congress would never use its new powers.

It is not a drastic power.

The declaration recently made by the general counsel of the National Association of Manufacturers that this Amendment would confer on Congress a "power in terms and to the extent not now possessed by any State in the Union" is without foundation.

We are charged with an attempt to forbid every boy and girls under 18 years from performing any useful service even in their own homes or on the farm. That charge is an insult to the millions of people who urged this Amendment in Congress and we do not believe it is made in good faith.

Looking Ahead.

Why then, we are asked, is power conferred in relation to minors up to 18 years? Because, granting that the government should have any power over child labor, that power should be ample to meet any exigencies in the future. There may come a time when our people will be enough enlightened to wish to forbid a boy under 18 from operative a locomotive engine, or a girl under 18 an electric elevator. Surely if some State or States refused these decent standards we should not wish to have to go again to Congress for a further extension of Federal power.

It is charged that we seek to forbid any child under 18 years from working on the home farm. This also is false. None who have advocated this measure desires such a law passed. No Congressman wants it. None of his constituents wants it. None of the twenty-two national organizations associated with us in this campaign wants it.

It is next charged that this amendment is unnecessary because child labor has practically disappeared. Census figures are produced by Mr. Emery of the National Manufacturers Association to show that this whole campaign is waged on behalf of 622 children working in Southern cotton mills. These figures work like magic and can easily mislead.

These figures relate to the children under fourteen employed in violation of law in 1920 when the Federal tax law was in force. But those who have furnished these figures to Mr. Sherman have shrewdly omitted to include those under sixteen but were employed more than eight hours a day in violation of the Federal law.

It is this limitation of hours to which manufacturers have in reality objected far more than to the fourteen-year age minimum but very little is said about this feature by the opposition, which has consistently talked as though the age minimum were the only question involved and called attention to the relatively small number of child workers under fourteen, as though these were the only ones affected by the law.

In Agricultural Pursuits

As a matter of fact the number of children subject to the Federal regulations reported by the 1920 census (when it should be remembered the Federal child labor tax law was in effect with a severe penalty of 10 per cent of the net profits for the entire year in establishments in which a single child was employed in violation of any of the standards of the law) was 192,000 (185,337 employed in manufacturing and mechanical industries and 7,191 in the extraction of minerals).

In all, over four hundred thousand (413,549) children were reported as employed in nonagricultural occupations, practically all of which have been recognized as in need of regulation by the enactment of legislation affecting them in at least some States.

Will it impair State laws and administration?

There is no foundation for the charge that Federal legislation will destroy State laws or discourage State administration. The history of the past six years definitely refutes that objection. More and better laws were passed and better administration secured during the period of Federal co-operation than at any other time in the history of this movement.

Will Congress go the limit?

No. It was in a letter appearing in a Boston paper last Sunday that we may assume that Congress will at once use all the power granted by this amendment. And the writer says the assumption is fair because Congress always uses all its power. The answer to that is brief.

Another Mistake

The writer is utterly mistaken. Congress never uses all the power it possesses. I challenge anyone to point to a single instance in our history in which Congress has used all its power. Or one instance in which Congress has enacted legislation in direct opposition to the will of the people.

Can we trust our government?

After all, the sinister fact of the whole agitation against a constitution amendment is the effect upon our general population in creating a widespread suspicion and distrust of our government. Do those who oppose this amendment wish us to look to some other form of government to protect us from our own? Are they suggesting that, since there is danger that our government may act on behalf of the welfare of all the people as against the welfare of special interests, the government has therefore forfeited its right to our confidence? We submit to those who are opposing the amendment that their opposition should be based on hostility to the pending measure instead of on an attempt to lodge in the minds of the people a distrust of the threefold branches of our Federal government as though it were some foreign monarch attempting to rob us of our liberties and our national inheritance.
